Game Title: Le Petit Prince (Based on the book by Antoine de Saint Exupéry)

This is an adventure-based game, and can be played using either a keyboard or Xbox-360 Gamepad (The gamepad is more fun). The objective of the game is to move around the screen and shoot arrows at hats. There are four different locations you can travel to, starting from Earth; you can go to planets outside the Solar System, within the System, and back on earth. There are two different modes of gameplay: endless and classic. In endless mode, the player can go on forever to collect hats, and stop using a simple key. In classic mode, the player must maintain the score, and reach a full scale. The game ends when the circle completes. Classic mode, however, doesn't include a high score, unlike the endless mode. The player has several other options, such as a laser-telescope, which allows the player to search for hats, and also the option to change the avatar.

Controls are very simple. In gamepad, the right Thumbstick and arrow keys can be used. The A button can be used to shoot, and left and right buttons give more choices to modify the game. Start lets the player exit to the End menu. Keyboard controls are very simple too. Movement keys allow movement and rotation, and the spacebar can be used to shoot. The right-shift and S key can be used for similar options as the gamepad. Player can exit to end menu using the button R.
